City of Split

Split, as the capital of Dalmatia, is the cultural and economic hub of Central Dalmatia. It grew out of the Palace of a Roman emperor. It was in 295 AD 1700 years ago, that the Roman emperor Gaius Valerius Aurelius Diocletianus started to build his palace in the bay of Aspalathos on the Dalmatian coast, the land where he was born.. After his abdication in 305, the retired emperor left Nicomedia and settled in the palace intending to spend the rest of his life there. The rectangular Diocletian's palace occupies an area of about 28.900 square meters. Its 1700 years of living history is protected by the UNESCO and will always fire the interest of visitors and travellers. When it is time to think of holidays and leisure, you will find it hard to imagine a more magnificent natural beauty than that of Dalmatia, where Adriatic Sea meets the highest Mediterranean mountains. The coast and islands are studded with beaches shaded by thick pine forests, whose freshness seeps out over the shingle to a crystal sea.

If this whole region has a common characteristic, it is the simple and good-hearted sincerity of the people, their peaceable yet boisterous nature, the unaffected desire to present their guest with the very best of everything. You cannot pack it in your suitcase when you return home, but it will remain in your soul until you visit once again.

About the regatta

International rowing regatta Sveti Dujje is an event featuring eights from Croatian and international universities.

The competition consists of two parts:

1. Race of the university eights from Croatia and abroad
2. Legends' Race between the legends of Oxford, Cambridge and Split

The regatta has traditionally been taking place on St Domnius Day.

University Eights Races

take place at the 1000m long racing course in Spinut, with an increasing number of participating teams every year. The increase culminated in the past four years due to the participation of the best known names in university rowing, the Oxford and Cambridge Blue Boats.

Legends Race

takes place in the city harbour on a 220m long course, whereby the legends of Split are competing against the legends of Oxford and Cambridge – the alumni that have rowed in the legendary Boat Race on river Thames in the past 10 years and that have won the brightest Olympic and World Championships medals.

Racing rules:

The regatta is conducted in accordance with the rules of FISA, and the Split University's Regulations for Organization of Sports Events. Any student in possession of a student identity card has the right to compete. The legends are exempt from this rule.

The higher age limit is 29 years. The coxswains can be of any gender, student status or age.
